

9 Rare Traits

In Every High Performer

Chris Donnelly

① Action Bias

Most people wait for the “right time.”

It never comes, and high performers know that.

They move quickly, knowing momentum matters more than perfection.

Because opportunities rarely come with a second invitation.

② Time Management Master

They don't "manage" time, they own it.

Their calendar reflects priorities, rather than other people's demands.

- They say no often.
- They protect deep work.

After all, each hour in this life is an investment - a precious resource.
